Exhibitions

Canaletto, Rome-London-Venice The triumph of light (1697-1768)

6 MAY - 13 SEPTEMBER 2015

Giovanni Antonio Canal, known as Canaletto (1697-1768), is recognised as a leading figure of the artistic genre called veduta, the Venetian artistic creation of the XVIIIth century that was most widely admired throughout Europe. The exhibition will present a panorama of Canaletto's work. The theme of the exhibition will be research on light, which is a feature in all of the artists' work. The paintings and drawings displayed will be chosen from Canaletto's most remarkable works.

Canaletto, Le Bucentaure de retour au Môle

Masterpieces from the collections of the Prince of Liechtenstein Raphaël | Cranach | Rubens | Van Dyck | Rembrandt | Vernet | Bellotto | Vigée-Lebrun AUTUMN 2015

The exhibition will serve as opportunity to honour the prestigious collection of the Princes of Liechtenstein, known in Vienna for their fondness for paintings and ancient pieces of art. This family collection is the fruit of more than six centuries of acquisitions, amounting to over 1500 ancient paintings by the greatest Italian, French and Flemish masters, including Holbein, Rubens, Ricci, Canova and Pannini.

The port used in the crusades

- Located in the heart of the Aigues-Mortes medieval walled city
- A special-edition film on the history of Aigues-Mortes and the crusades
- Experience the adventure of the Saint Louis' 7th and 8th crusades
- Continuous screenings every 30 minutes at the cinema of Aigues-Mortes
- The tumultuous history behind the founding of the town by Saint Louis

The Film

The port used in the crusades

In 1240, Geoffroy de Montdragon, one of Louis IX's knights, was sent by the king to the Camargue, to buy the land belonging to the Abbey of Psalmody. King Louis had plans to build a town on this hostile marshland. The town would be the only port in France with access to the Mediterranean. A few years later, at the Château de Pontoise, Louis IX survived a serious illness and vowed to launch a crusade to liberate the Holy Land. Thanks to Saint Louis, this small village in the Camargue underwent a transformation. The new town was built during the course of the 7th crusade (1248), and continued during the 8th crusade (1270), until the famous ramparts were completed. Thus, the fate of the Kingdom of France became linked to the history of Aigues-Mortes.

Article 2 – Payment methods

Payment can be made in cash, with a credit card (Visa, Eurocard-Mastercard, American Express, JCB) or cheque payable to Culturespaces, with ID. Employee benefits such as culture cheques, holiday cheques, book and culture cheques, Kadéos Culture checks and culture Tickets are accepted for individual visitors and restaurant tickets are accepted for food and drink. Government money orders, vouchers and transfers are accepted upon approval from the booking department.

Article 3 – Group Tours

3.1 Group Bookings and self-guided tours

Bookings are recommended for self-guided tours. Without a booking, access to sites may be limited according to visitor numbers.

Bookings are required for temporary exhibitions, including self-guided tours.

Bookings can be made by contacting the relevant site by email, post or fax. All Group Bookings must specify the number of visitors, the name and contact information of the Group leader, the day and time of the intended visit. Booking terms and conditions will be specified in writing in a Booking Contract.

All members of the Group must be present before entering the site.

When temporary exhibitions are being held, arrivals later than ten minutes after the scheduled time will be deemed cancelled, unless the following time slot is available.

Cancellations must be made at least 10 days prior to the date of the visit.

Before the Group enters the site, the Group visit must be paid for by the Group leader at the ticket booth on the day or when invoiced, only if specified in the Booking Contract.

3.2 Special terms and conditions for lecture or educational workshop services

All Groups must book these services in advance.

The total due must be paid at least 10 days prior to the visit. Unless otherwise specified in the Booking Contract, failure to comply with these terms and conditions in result in the cancellation of the service.

If a cancellation is made within 10 days of the visit, the amount paid will not be refunded, unless the parties have agreed otherwise in the Booking Contract. If Culturespaces cancels the booking, the full amount will be refunded.

Groups paying with government money orders or vouchers must send the order voucher at least 10 days prior to arrival. The invoice, payable upon receipt, will be sent after the visit.

Late arrivals will result in less time for the service. Late arrivals of more than 30 minutes (10 minutes during temporary exhibitions) will be deemed a cancellation and the amount paid will not be refunded.

3.3 Special terms and conditions for dining services

Groups must book catering services in advance. The meal time will be specified by the site when the booking is confirmed. Extra visitors wishing to join the Group must be added no later than 3 days before the scheduled meal service.

The total amount must be paid at least 10 days before the service is provided, unless otherwise specified in the Booking Contract. No refunds will be made for bookings cancelled within 10 days of the service. If Culturespaces cancels the booking, the full amount will be refunded.

Groups must wait at the entrance to the restaurant or tea room before being seated by a hostess. The menu is identical for the entire Group.

Article 4 – Ticket pre-sales for tourism professionals and company representatives
